

Praying through this week 26th April 2021

He tends his flock like a shepherd: He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart; he gently leads those that have young.

Isaiah 40:11

As spring unfolds and the full glory of new growth is revealed, can we embrace this new life with a new life in Jesus?

Are we able to spring forward spiritually, bringing God into our everyday lives – the highs, the lows and the in-betweens?

Let us spiritually become like one of the spring lambs, skipping across the meadow into Jesus' flock as he shepherds us on our way. Jesus is there, rounding us up. If our pace is a little slower or we are still teetering on our feet, he will wait for us and come looking for us if we need a helping hand.

May we also prayerfully consider how we can bring those who may be feeling less "spring-like" with us, as we slowly emerge from the hibernation period we have possibly been in? May we come alongside one another, leaning on Jesus and each other, journeying together with him?

...It is he who made us, and we are his; we are his people,
the sheep of his pasture. Psalm 100:3

Rachel C

Praying through this week 26th April 2021

He tends his flock like a shepherd: He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart; he gently leads those that have young.

Isaiah 40:11

As spring unfolds and the full glory of new growth is revealed, can we embrace this new life with a new life in Jesus?

Are we able to spring forward spiritually, bringing God into our everyday lives – the highs, the lows and the in-betweens?

Let us spiritually become like one of the spring lambs, skipping across the meadow into Jesus' flock as he shepherds us on our way. Jesus is there, rounding us up. If our pace is a little slower or we are still teetering on our feet, he will wait for us and come looking for us if we need a helping hand.

May we also prayerfully consider how we can bring those who may be feeling less "spring-like" with us, as we slowly emerge from the hibernation period we have possibly been in? May we come alongside one another, leaning on Jesus and each other, journeying together with him?

...It is he who made us, and we are his; we are his people,
the sheep of his pasture. Psalm 100:3

Rachel C