

Praying through the week 30th January 2023

The heavens declare the glory of God; the skies proclaim the work of his hands. (Psalm 19:1)

The Magi were used to studying the night skies. How excited they must have been when the unusual star first appeared.

Can you recall a time when you looked up at the heavens on a really clear night?

Do you remember how you felt when you saw the sky full of shining stars?

Perhaps you were filled with wonder; amazed at their beauty and number ... or ... ?

He determines the number of the stars and calls them each by name.
(Psalm 147:4)

Creator God, our Heavenly Father, as we reflect on these words of Scripture and think of the vast array of the stars. you have made and named, our hearts are filled with awe and praise. How great you are!
Maureen

Praying through the week 30th January 2023

The heavens declare the glory of God; the skies proclaim the work of his hands. (Psalm 19:1)

The Magi were used to studying the night skies. How excited they must have been when the unusual star first appeared.

Can you recall a time when you looked up at the heavens on a really clear night?

Do you remember how you felt when you saw the sky full of shining stars?

Perhaps you were filled with wonder; amazed at their beauty and number ... or ... ?

He determines the number of the stars and calls them each by name.
(Psalm 147:4)

Creator God, our Heavenly Father, as we reflect on these words of Scripture and think of the vast array of the stars. you have made and named, our hearts are filled with awe and praise. How great you are!
Maureen