

Praying through the week 29th January 2024

Beginnings

Each new beginning matters
Every minute of each day
For the minute that has passed
Has left your chosen way.
As the minute turns to history
For time will quickly part
And the webs of life grow ever thick
To wear away your heart.

So every morning as we arise,
To walk on the path of an untried way
Unknowing what's before us
Through the coming of the day.
Will there be sunbeams and laughter,
Or maybe darkness will fall
Be it gladness or sorrow
Turn to Jesus, tell him all.

PTO

Then as your hours glide before you
His guidance you will know.
For your burdens will be lighter
For Jesus knows your woe.
And a strength will lead you forward
A strength of faith and love,
To have this time on Gods given earth,
On our journey to Heaven above. Amen.

Linda

Praying through the week 29th January 2024

Beginnings

Each new beginning matters
Every minute of each day
For the minute that has passed
Has left your chosen way.
As the minute turns to history
For time will quickly part
And the webs of life grow ever thick
To wear away your heart.

So every morning as we arise,
To walk on the path of an untried way
Unknowing what's before us
Through the coming of the day.
Will there be sunbeams and laughter,
Or maybe darkness will fall
Be it gladness or sorrow
Turn to Jesus, tell him all.

PTO

Then as your hours glide before you
His guidance you will know.
For your burdens will be lighter
For Jesus knows your woe.
And a strength will lead you forward
A strength of faith and love,
To have this time on Gods given earth,
On our journey to Heaven above. Amen.

Linda