Proverbs

A friend loves at all times, and a brother is born for a difficult time.

Proverbs 17:17

I am forever grateful for my friends, whatever role they play in my life. Whether I see them most days or once a year, they encourage me to be a better person, and pull me through the most difficult of times. But do I spend enough time considering whether I am the type of friend that I myself would like to have?

Whilst researching my reflection, I came across some examples of how God thinks we can be better friends.

- Stay in regular contact with your friends (Romans 1:13).
- Be sensitive to your friends' needs (Galatians 6:2).
- Look for opportunities to show care and appreciation for your friends (John 15:12-13).
- Tell your friends how much you appreciate them (Romans 1:8-12).
- Pray for your friends (Ephesians 1:16).

May we all strive to be the kind of friend, he would like us to be.
